About Nuno

Nuno is dual-qualified in Mozambique and Portugal and is the local partner at NMP Advogados. He heads the firm's practice in Mozambique and has developed particular expertise in projects and financing in the Mozambican market.

Nuno has more than 10 years of experience and specialises in project finance and project development transactions. His areas of expertise include the energy sector, including oil and gas, LNG and energy transition, and the natural resources and infrastructure sectors, from greenfield to secondary market. Drawing on his cross-border experience, Nuno acts as counsel to sponsors/borrowers, commercial banks, and multilateral and bilateral development financial institutions. He provides advice on strategic joint ventures, project management, financial structures and products, including structured finance, direct lending, asset finance, corporate lending, and trade and export finance.

Nuno has a law degree from the Faculty of Law of Universidade Nova de Lisboa and a master's in administrative law - public procurement – from Universidade Católica Portuguesa (Lisbon). He also completed an LLM in international business law at Católica School of Law. Nuno is admitted to both the Portuguese and Mozambican Bar Associations.
